PROFILE --

I am a web developer interested in automation and AI solutions and am proficient in a wide range of technologies. I have a background in education - I love to combine my love of art and technology to create engaging educational content. I taught English and maths at an international school in Tokyo and speak Japanese fluently. I am an animation, samurai, and electropunk electroclash synth-pop enthusiast. I am fastidious and precise - and love a challenging problem to solve. Check out my portfolio to see some of the projects I have worked on. Look forward to speaking!
